

I live in a rural area with little if any local news on radio. i hope that someday the satelitte radio stations will expand their coverage to rural areas also. any attempt to limit their programing in the vial areas of news and weather is backward step in our progressing in the information age